REVIEWS

"The book introduces Zemiology as a discipline that lies beyond the 'toxic language' of conventional criminology and makes the study of social harm a concern of all scholar-activists."

Biko Agozino, Professor of Sociology and Africana Studies, Virginia Tech, USA

"This book is timely and provides an easily accessible, theoretical and empirical introduction to zemiology, the discipline that seeks to unearth harmful structures, policies, decisions and practice to generate changes to confront them. This is an important book for students and others who want to look beyond criminology to understand, analyse and act against harms."

Ragnhild Sollund, Professor, University of Oslo, Norway

From Social Harm to Zemiology

A Critical Introduction

Victoria Canning, University of Bristol, UK, and Steve Tombs, The Open University, UK

Series: New Directions in Critical Criminology

This book outlines key developments in understanding social harm by setting out its historical foundations and the discussions which have proliferated since. From Social Harm to Zemiology locates the study of social harm in an accessible fashion, drawing on a range of international case studies of cultural, emotional, physical and economic harms. In doing so it sets out how a zemiological lens can move us beyond many of the problematic legacies of criminology. An accessible and compelling read, this book is essential reading for all zemiologists, critical criminologists, and those engaged with criminological and social theory.
